II. Background of the parties;

The Allahabad University: University of Allahabad has always occupied an esteemed place among the Universities of India for over a century. Established on 23rd September 1887, it is the fourth oldest University of India after Calcutta, Bombay and Madras University. The university has four faculties—Arts, Commerce, Law, and Science—four university institutes—Institute of Inter-Disciplinary Studies, Institute of Professional Studies, Institute of Gandhian Thoughts and Peace Studies, and National Centre of Experimental Mineralogy and Petrology—and five independent University Centres: Centre of Behavioural and Cognitive Sciences, Centre for Women's Studies, M.N. Saha Centre of Space Studies, and Centre of The University of Allahabad aims to be a global intellectual centre. In the Banyan tree insignia, “Quot Rami Tot Arbores” means “as many branches, so many trees.” The phrase encourages us to pursue numerous academic subjects, symbolised by the branches, to create a wide wisdom forest. It moulds young minds to build future nations. With a commitment to quality education, research, and cultural richness, the university aims to become one of the world's top institutions, fostering innovation and producing leaders who shape the future, exploring the frontiers of knowledge and enriching people's lives. The University has boasted an impressive list of alumni, including former presidents, prime ministers, ministers, Supreme Court justices, and senior bureaucrats, all of whom have made significant contributions to India's defence sector.

After establishing an M.Ed. programme in 1942, the University of Allahabad Department of Education has implemented the UGC SAP DRS Phase-I for five years. The department collaborated with CIET, NCERT, New Delhi on the UGC e-PG Paathshala Project. National Journal “Research and Studies” ISSN 0084-621 is published annually by the department since 1950. Since 2013, department publishes UGC-SAP Annual News Letter.

Educational Psychology, Technology, and Science Education labs are adequately equipped in the Department of Education.

Central University of South Bihar, Gaya, India, is one of 54 Central Universities under the Department of Higher Education of the Ministry of Education of India. The Central Universities Act, 2009 (Section 25 of 2009) established Central University of Bihar (CUB), which was renamed Central University of South Bihar by the 2014 amendment. The UGC category-I institution is NACC A++ approved. With the slogan 'Collective Reasoning', the University conducts its academic and administrative activities from a 300-acre campus in Panchanpur, 15 kilometres from Gaya. A interdisciplinary approach, new pedagogies, promising infrastructure, and good student assistance make CUSB a congenial and research-oriented environment. Four integrated undergraduate (UG), 25 postgraduate (PG), and 22 Ph.D. programmes are provided by the university.

The School of Education (previously the Centre for Education) established the Department of Teacher Education in 2013 with the introduction of Four-Year Integrated B.A.B.Ed. and B.Sc.B.Ed. programmes. In 2017, M.Ed. and Ph.D. programmes were launched to satisfy the demands of quality teacher educators and education scholars. The department offers highly trained faculty with diverse academic backgrounds and expertise to give students a world-class education. The department has a cutting-edge MOOC Studio and a powerful Computer-cum-Language Lab to fulfil digital teaching and learning needs. The Science, Social Science, Curriculum, Psychology, and Arts Labs are well-equipped. The department provides exclusive services to the entire teaching and academic leadership community of India through multidimensional and highly qualitative in-service training programmes and highly productive workshops through the Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching (PMMMNMTT) Scheme of MoE, Govt. of India and the National Resource Centre (NRC), MoE, Govt. of India. The NRC of the department successfully ran three SWAYAM MOOCs for Teacher Educators under ARPIT. With quality initiatives like academic programmes, comprehensive research, field studies, creative ventures, and other educational activities, the department aspires to become a Centre of Excellence for Teacher Education and set high standards at the regional, national, and international levels through committed, sincere, and highly potential faculty and dynamic academic leadership.
