Notice (Five-year Food Technology Programme)

The Five-year Food Technology Programme has been discontinued in the current session 2023-2024. All candidates who have registered in Five-year Food Technology Programme will be given two options. The first course is Five-year integrated Programme in Family and Community Science (only for female candidates) and the second course is BVoc Food Processing and Technology (for both male and female candidates). All candidates, after checking their eligibility for these courses, will be allowed to choose from either of the two courses and secure their admission. However, if the candidate does not want admission in either course will be allowed to get their registration fee refunded.

The online counselling can be done through the link <https://ecounselling.in/> and cutoff for these courses can be seen on the link <https://ecounselling.in/ugnotice.html>. The candidates are advised to regularly visit the suggested link to participate in the admission process.
